Charges posted against Collins

SAN RAMON — Former presidential hopeful Richard C. Collins Tuesday received a letter officially informing him of charges he violated the Hatch Act by campaigning for the presidency while a U.S. Post Office employee.

The letter from Carl F. Goodman, general counsel for the Civil Service Commission in Washington, D.C., says Collins has until Jan. 26 to respond to the charges.

Based on his response, the general counsel's office could refer the case to an administrative law judge, part of a separate arm of the Civil Service Commission. The judge would then schedule a hearing in or near San Ramon to try the case.

If found guilty, Collins could be penalized from 30 days suspension without pay to immediate dismissal.

Collins learned of the charges last week when called by a newspaper. He appeared dismayed that the general counsel's office released the letter to the press before informing him first.

"It just seems like it isn't standard protocol. I just expected everything the government did to be first class," he said yesterday.

Ralph Eddy, a trial attorney for the commission, admitted he had erred in releasing the information. "I wasn't considering the mailing time. It is my mistake," Eddy said yesterday.

Collins indicated he welcomed the chance to test the legality of the Hatch Act. He argues that if President Ford could use government property while campaigning as a federal employee, he should be allowed the same right.

Collins is considering asking the American Civil Liberties Union for legal aid. If rejected, he said he may hire his own attorney for representation at any upcoming hearings.

Cleaver feared death in jail

LIVERMORE — Kathleen Cleaver told local Rotarians yesterday her black activist husband Eldridge did not return sooner from a seven year foreign exile because "he would have been just another celebrated — but dead — black man" if sent to jail.

She painted a picture of injustices in America that prompted her husband's revolutionary activities, noting how "this country we were raised to respect was engaged in dirty, immoral and sinful practices in government."

The government officials were the ones to add fuel to the fires of revolutionary groups such as Cleaver's Black Panther Party, said Kathleen. She described the party as being "the first grass roots political organization for the politically naive blacks in Oakland."

"We were fighting segregation, economic stagnation and inferior educational opportunities," she said. "We were taught in church and school that people had a right to be free and we resented it."

"But people were pointing the finger at us and saying 'that's what you have to be afraid of,'" she added.

Cleaver fled, fearing for his life if jailed for his alleged participation in a 1968 Black Panther shootout with Oakland police.

It wasn't until the Cleavers spent time in communist countries that they realized the importance of the Bill of Rights and the Declaration of Independence, said Kathleen.

Saying that her husband's denunciations of America were out of love, not hate, Kathleen said Eldridge realized "America has changed in seven years" and decided last year to return to Oakland Superior Court and face charges under the rule of law.

She briefly touched on her husband's return to religion, a topic he has been discussing in a current speaking tour to raise money for his legal defense fund.

Eldridge Cleaver will bring his religious message to the Dublin High School gymnasium Jan. 23, when he is expected to tell of a spiritual awakening which resulted from a vision while in exile in France.

Stores will stay open if retail clerks strike

Stockpiling food at home has not yet set in, but a threatened strike by retail clerks against major food outlets in the valley could pose a problem for shoppers if it lingers.

Supermarket association representatives yesterday announced plans to stay open in spite of a threatened strike by some 17,000 retail food clerks. Federal mediators met with both sides in an attempt to head off the Friday morning strike deadline.

The walkout would hit hardest at Safeway, Lucky, Ralph's, Alpha Beta, Fry's and Albertson's — the major, national chains. Small, independent chains and single store operations would be effected least, if at all.

While the Food Employers Council represents most retailers in their dealings with the Retail Clerks International Association, several small operators sign "sweetheart" contracts with the union. Those agreements call for acceptance of the final contract with retroactive pay boosts in exchange for no strike by employees.

Similar "sweetheart" agreements held three years ago when Bay Area butchers went on strike.

But one major retail store manager in the valley said "sweetheart" contracts have not yet been presented to the independents.

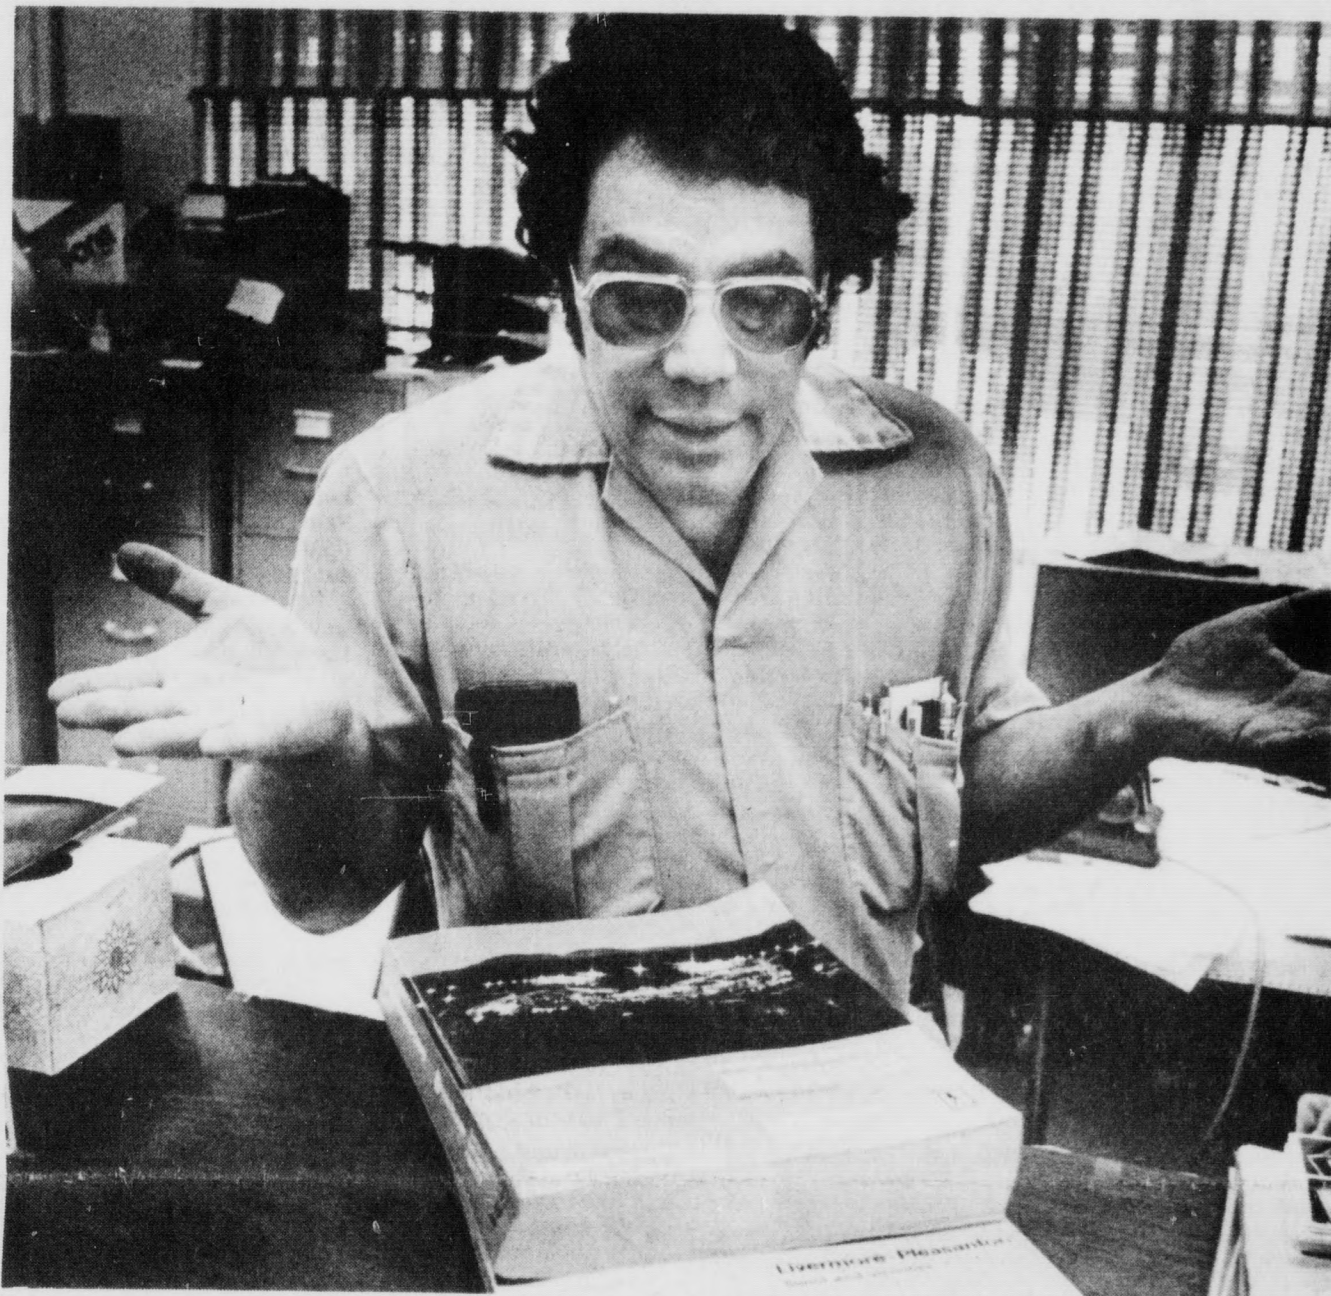

A Times survey shows Louis Store in Livermore, Jiff's, Pleasanton Foods, Fiorio's and all Co-op markets do not anticipate a walkout. A Louis Store spokesman said his firm signed a "sweetheart" contract during the butcher's imbroglio.

But the major chains will be hit with shortages if the strike lasts.

One major chain store manager, who wished to remain anonymous, said his store would be limited to the stock on hand — about a two week supply.

A Food Employers Council spokesman said "We will have less variety on the shelves, but the stores will be open. There will be no food shortage."

Union spokesman Dave Selvin said the clerks are asking for a pay and fringe benefits increase of $2.72 an hour over three years. Selvin said that is the same agreement reached with meat cutters in negotiations last year.

Find it fast? There's no way, says Bob Goodman, Dublin businessman.

Phone book woe: Dublin twilight zone

DUBLIN — It's a phone book no-man's land here, according to Dublin's businessmen since they have to buy yellow-page space in the Central Contra Costa County (CCCC) and the Livermore - Pleasanton - Sunol and Vicinities (LPSV) phone books in order to effectively reach their market.

"The problem lies in distribution, not content," said Bob Goodman, Dublin businessman. "Both books contain Dublin information in their white pages. It's the yellow pages that cause the hassle."

According to him, Dublinites receive only the CCCC book unless they specifically request the LPSV. They only get the latter one time if they don't place a standing order.

"In order for us to reach people in Dublin with our advertising, we have to buy yellow-page space in the Contra Costa County book. That's fine, but we lose a lot of advertising impact since that book is primarily read by people in Walnut Creek and

VALLEY NEWS BRIEFS

Funds returned

Former BART Board President Elmer Cooper, seared by two grand juries and a committee of his peers, has returned $3,086 to the beleaguered transit district to cover undocumented expenses for which he was reimbursed in 1975. Cooper's postdated check landed at district headquarters this week after newly elected director and investigative committee chairman Art Shartsis, an attorney, wrote Cooper demanding documentation or reimbursement.

Cooper said he "reserves his right to recover appropriate amounts" from the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, according to a district spokesman.

The money covers three trips to Washington, D.C. which Cooper could not document. A ticket for one of the junkets was cashed in at the airlines, a Times investigation discovered.

The balance of Cooper's refund covers meals, secretarial and telephone services, taxi fares, per diem and postage.

Cooper claimed nearly $20,000 in reimbursed expenses for nine months of 1975, including a sojourn through Europe.

VMH expands

Valley Memorial Hospital in Livermore has just received state approval for a $1.8 million expansion project.

Work begins Monday on remodeling the former medical records room to house a $400,000 X-ray scanner which has been purchased by a group of doctors. Bidding will soon be accepted on a $500,000 expansion of the intensive and coronary care units, to be constructed by expanding the existing ICU and adding onto the third floor above the nursery and delivery rooms.

When that work is done, a $780,000 expansion of the outpatient department and installation of a third elevator are planned.

Latest on church

All members of the Pleasanton Presbyterian Community Church are invited to attend a meeting of the congregation at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the church's sanctuary to discuss future expansion plans.

The building committee's subcommittee will report on moving the 100 year old church building to the church's Mirador Drive site. Howard Neely, a member of the subcommittee, said the discussion hopefully will include a reduction in the cost estimates announced a few weeks ago.

The contractor who bid on moving the old church will be present to answer questions and the city fire marshal will also attend to talk about protection of the old building.

A plan to build a new church building on the Mirador Drive site also will be discussed by Lew Helgeson.

Warning about hole

Pleasanton will let Lyons Development Co. know that potential tragedy lurks in its vacant field at the end of Tananger Court.

The firm has capped a 15 foot hole in the field, but someone has removed the cap. Efforts to restore the cap are met by further uncapping. The city can't take the responsibility to cap the hole or it would be assuming legal liability from the developer, said City Attorney Ken Scheidig. So the city will write the developer and urge the company to install a vandal-proof lock.

VCSD meets again

The meeting of the board of directors of the Valley Community Services District scheduled for Jan. 4 has been adjourned until Jan. 13.

It will be held at the Livermore Council Chambers, 39 South Livermore Ave., Livermore at 6:30 p.m.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss business relating to the Livermore-Amador Valley Water Management Agency (LAVWMA).

SR youth's motion held for a week

A defense motion to suppress evidence obtained in a search of the home of David Barker, the 16-year-old San Ramon youth accused in the Braeseke family triple murder, was continued to Jan. 20 at 9:30 a.m. in superior court in Oakland.

Barker's lawyer, Barry Morris of Oakland, will argue that the search was illegal, since it was allegedly based solely on the taped statement of his co-defendant, 20-year-old Barry Braeseke, son of the victims.

Both Barker and Braeseke have pleaded not guilty to the murders. Lawyers expect the court to join the two cases together and conduct a joint trial.

Braeseke's mother, father and grandfather were found dead in the family's Dublin home Aug. 23, 1976. All three had been shot with a .22 caliber rifle.

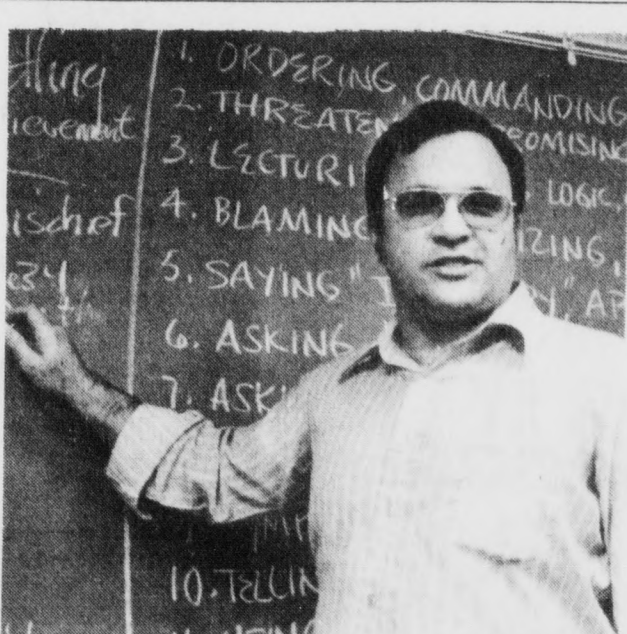

Whatsa matter with kids today?

DUBLIN — To keep kids from scrambling mom and dad's brains, parents can benefit by absorbing child-rearing methods from books, lectures and workshops then tailoring that knowledge to suit their family's individual needs.

Bob Bronzan, Livermore High School vice-principal, suggested this approach at Dublin High School last week. He spoke to a group of parents whose children are attending Hill N' Dale Pre-School in Pleasanton.

Bronzan said he is not a counselor per se. But by working with young people of all ages and their parents for 13 years, he has developed an interest in their

Bob Bronzan, Livermore High School vice-principal, tells it like it is when it comes to dealing with children in a way that helps them become worthwhile adults. He promotes the positive approach.

Recreation is too a human service-council

PLEASANTON — The city council agreed to modify the name of the Department of Human Resources Monday night on a 4-1 vote.

The department now shall be known as the Department of Recreation and Human Services. The council majority agreed with the park and recreation commission recommendation to change the name.

The park and recreation commissioners thought the new Department of Human Resources name was confusing to callers who previously heard Department of Park and Recreation. It's bad enough they lost their parks, but where did the recreation go, callers wondered and the commission thought the name change would be in order.

Vice - mayor Joyce LeClaire voted against the change. The name Department of Human Resources was chosen when the idea of delivering human services besides recreation was incorporated into the city structure. It takes time to adjust to the new identity, but adjusting, not changing the name, is the way to proceed, said LeClaire.

"I don't like to segregate human needs from recreation," she said.

City Manager Bill Edgar said he opposed the change, too, but added that the city won't fall apart if the council approved the recommendation from the park and recreation commission.

Teacher trial opens

Leshar News Bureau

MARTINEZ-Jury selection will begin today in a trial to determine whether a San Ramon teacher's freedom of speech rights were violated when he was demoted from an administrative position.

Boyer August, now a teacher in the San Ramon Valley Unified School District, was demoted from dean of boys at San Ramon Valley High School in 1975 after he publicly criticized policies of the school district.

Michael McCabe, lawyer for August, of Danville, is alleging that the teacher's First Amendment right of free speech was violated.

But, in a ruling Wednesday, visiting Superior Court Judge Raymond J. Sherwin said the school district doesn't have to reinstate August in his old administrative position.

MCCabe said he intends to appeal that decision.

New finance chief named

LIVERMORE — Tim Larin of San Ramon is the Livermore Unified School District's new finance director.

Larin was director of finance and administrative services for BASSA (Bay Area Sewage Services Agency) in Berkeley for more than three years, until that agency was closed down on Dec. 31. He was also accounts payable manager with Big Boy restaurants and was a controller for Montgomery Ward.

He holds a bachelor's degree in economics from American University in Washington, D.C. and a master's in business administration from Sacramento State University.

Larin replaces Edwin Miyasaki, who joined the district in September, 1975, to become the first "information systems analyst."

Miyasaki resigned after a year to join the Ravenswood Elementary School District on the Peninsula, where he now serves as assistant superintendent for business.

These Dublin Lions Club members will be donating their skills to making the annual crab feed a success again this year. They are K.C. Ramsey, Larry Riera, President Monte Lukov, Rusty Attebery and Monty Lukov, Jr.

Crab feed starts race

A crab feed will kick off the Tri-valley honorary mayors race Friday, Jan. 14. Sponsored by the Dublin Lions Club, the feed will also include dancing to live music and prizes at the Shannon Center.

For a donation of $7.50, fun-loving candidates and the public are welcome to all join the Ravenswood Elementary School District on the Peninsula, where he now serves as assistant superintendent for business.

The fund-raising event is a first for the Lions, who will fete the honorary mayor at a gala inaugural ball and parade later in the year.

The Lions issued an open invitation to all clubs and service organizations in December, urging them to join in the race to see which club could raise the most money for the community. Each club will choose their own candidate for the race, with the winner determined by the club who has raised the most.

The annual crab feed will begin at 7:30 p.m., followed by dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

One buck the limit

LIVERMORE — One dollar is still the limit a person can contribute to a local political campaign without disclosure, but city council this week placed $35 as the maximum allowable from a single contributor.

Councilman John Staley failed to convince the rest of council to up the minimum from the one dollar limit imposed in Dec., 1975, to $10.

He said $10 "couldn't be so large that it would influence a candidate."

Others expressed fears that numerous people in a single organization would each donate the $10 and escape disclosure of a large sum of money from one source.

"The public makes decisions in an election and we need to insure they get all the information relevant to them in making the decisions," said Mayor Helen Tirsell.

"It is true that donations are valuable information," said Staley, "but so is the way we vote."

He said disclosure has a "chilling effect" in citizen participation at election time.

Council placed $50 as a limit for total undisclosed contributions, but must vote on the entire ordinance after city staff completes the requested changes.

In other council action this week:

— Tirsell proclaimed Jan. 16 - 22 Jaycee Week in Livermore.

— Council reaffirmed its support for the Beverage Container Reuse and Recycling Act which has stringent controls on throwaway containers.

— Council appointed Jim Doggett to the mosquito abatement district.

— Council rezoned four of five commercial sections in Springtown to conform with actual use. The fifth area, bordered by Springtown Blvd. on the east, I-580 on the south and city limits on the west, will remain as open space urban reserve instead of the proposed commercial office designation.

towns around it. They are not interested in coming to Dublin to shop."

"In order for us to reach people in Livermore, Pleasanton and Sunol we have to also advertise in their phone book," Goodman continued. "They don't receive the Contra Costa County book."

The Livermore, Pleasanton, Sunol areas are considered to be more socially, economically and geographically compatible to Dublin, according to Goodman.

"It only makes good sense to want to reach those people through our advertising," he said. "But we resent having to pay the piper twice. Advertising costs have nearly tripled and it costs me twice as much for a quarter-page ad in the Contra Costa County book as it does in the Livermore-Pleasanton one."

Goodman and other Dublin businessmen said they would like to see the LPSV book expanded and become the primary one for Dublin and its local market areas.

They tried to get this problem solved two years ago by serving on a Dublin Chamber of Commerce telephone book committee.

"We couldn't convince Pacific Telephone Company that this is a one market area," Goodman said.

VMH Auxiliary welcomes the new year with 'style'

By Jean McKenna

Monday was indeed like a "payday" for the Valley Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, as that hard-working group took another giant step toward reducing its $112,000 pledge for the C.O.V.E. building in half the time anticipated!

Administrator Tom Andrews accepted a check for $12,000 on behalf of the hospital at the auxiliary's annual luncheon at the San Ramon Golf Club, and brought the group up-to-date on scheduled improvements of the hospital facility in Livermore.

Officers of the auxiliary graciously bowed out after an outstanding year, and incoming officers survived the humorous initiation by Wanda Vierra with a smile. New officers are Cherie Littrell, president; Anne Powers, vice-president; Lillian Kosch, Thrift Shop; Karen Phillips, Gift Shop; Jan Derby, membership; Shirley Fuller, volunteers; Lydia O'Sullivan, Family Medical Center; Grace Murdock, recording secretary; Pat Rice, corresponding secretary; Betty Jones, treasurer; and Carol Andrews, parliamentarian.

A stunning selection of choice (?) fashions from the auxiliary's Thrift Shop was paraded before the group by models Nancy Silva, Jan Brice, Carol Andrews, Jeannette Casey, Mary Liker and Wanda Vierra. Seriously, the shop provides a major portion of the auxiliary's income, as explained by Commentator Rosanna Stivers.

Administrator Andrews paid the auxiliary a high compliment when he explained that the completed C.O.V.E. building, financed with funds and the pledge from the auxiliary, weighed heavily in the state's decision to allow additional capital improvements at Valley Memorial Hospital. Balance of the pledge to date is only $25,000, with complete payment expected within the year.

Volunteers honored at the luncheon included Jennie Dunn, Shirley Gaddis, Yolly Loggins, Grace Murdock, Lois O'Connor, Aurea Rodriguez and Verena Hamm with 250 hours service; Nelda Bacon, Elizabeth Kopp, Barbara Richards and Nina Warren with 500 hours; Nancy Berkley and Pat Rice with 1000 hours; Ann Kirely and Karen Phillips with 1500 hours; Lynn Kahler and Wanda Vierra with 2000 hours; Jan Brice, Mary Cunningham, Jan Derby, Esther Hansen, Dorothy Jackson, Cherie Littrell and Ann Powers with 2500 hours; Della Dibley and Elizabeth Gilbert with 3000; and Dean Holmes and Lillian Kosch with 4000 hours.

Not only the height of fashion, says Wanda Vierra, but warm too.

Complimenting the 'sweet ladies' who have accepted offices in the auxiliary with an appropriate candy bar, Wanda Vierra installs new president Cherie Littrell with a Big Hunk.

Mary Liker is all dressed up with nowhere to go.

Quality and quantity

This rare combination of extra generous portions and delicious Italian cuisine is definitely one of Pietro's biggest assets. Pleasanton's new restaurant at 6025 West Las Positas, in Val Vista plaza, is carefully overseen by Joe and Jim Mordaca and managed by Tuck Hardy, a man whose warm and friendly personality typifies the family restaurant.

New menu item

The resident sheriff (and manager), Norm Strehle, of Cactus Jacks, 3571 First St. in Livermore, is putting up a new sign — and a new entree on the menu. After having been thoroughly tested and approved by Livermore gourmet J. Wesley Fairhair, the Patty Melt Combo has been placed on the official menu at Cactus Jacks. This thoroughly enjoyable new treat is made up of two pieces of light rye bread surrounding a beef patty, two slices of cheese and some sliced Ortega chiles. In addition there are french fries and use of the salad bar. The hours are 7 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Hot line to bisect area park

PLEASANTON — A high-voltage power line on 80-foot towers will be cutting through the back of Shadow Cliffs Regional Park.

The East Bay Regional Park District board has given permission to Pacific Gas and Electric Co. to run the 230,000-volt line through an undeveloped section of the park. Since an EBRPD helicopter patrol is located nearby, PG&E agreed to reduce the towers from an original 115 to 130 feet, down to 70 or 80 feet, conspicuously marked.

The utility company needs the line to supply anticipated electrical needs in the Pleasanton - Dublin - Livermore area during the 1980's and will make substantial savings in construction costs by running it through the arroyo section of the park.

Noting that the project has been discussed by EBRPD and utility officials for more than two years, park district general manager Richard Trudeau said the agreement is "in keeping with the established cooperative approach."

He said, "We have worked with PG&E on a cooperative basis on many projects of mutual benefit over the years."

The board also learned that Pacific Telephone and Telegraph has terminated its lease on 3,817-foot Rose Peak, the landmark feature of EBRPD's new Ridgeland Regional Wilderness and the highest point in Alameda County.

Trudeau told the board the PT&T action eliminates the possibility of telephone lines on the scenic lands.

Nothing personal

This warning about 12/21 on Pleasanton Avenue near Division Street in Pleasanton is not a warning about a coming street widening or the end of the world next Dec. 21. The sign was put on the power pole 10 feet above street level by PG&E crews who may have occasion to trouble shoot the lines, according to PG&E Valley official John Stanley. The two numbers refer to 12,000 volts and 21,000 volts. Troubleshooters need to know both lines are up there so they can gap them properly, said Stanley. As the power firm converts lines from 12,000 to 21,000 volts, more signs will appear around town.

Programs to help poor pondered by CC County

Leshner News Bureau
MARTINEZ—County residents have two more chances to comment on how the county should spend $4.1 million in federal funds to assist low and moderate-income people.

The Board of Supervisors has called public hearings for 11:55 a.m. Jan. 25 to consider funds expected under the federal Housing and Community Development Act.

The hearings will be in the board chambers at the county Administration Building.

About $2 million will go to unincorporated areas and another $2 million to the 12 cities taking part. Richmond, Concord and Pittsburg have their own programs directly with the federal government.

The program is designed to provide housing, community projects and improved economic opportunities for residents with a lower income.

Projects being considered for unincorporated areas include housing rehabilitation in North Richmond, West Pittsburg, Rodeo and Oakley; housing counseling, neighborhood centers in West Pittsburg, Martinez, Montalvin Manor, Brentwood and Rodeo; senior centers in Crockett and Danville; road improvements in North Richmond; and removal of barriers to the handicapped.

Projects scheduled for the cities include neighborhood centers in Antioch, Brentwood, Martinez, Pinole, San Pablo and Walnut Creek; storm drainage and street improvements in El Pinole and Pleasant Hill; redevelopment and historic preservation in San Pablo; and a senior citizen housing program in Lafayette.

Cities have narrowed down their own programs. The programs in unincorporated areas were recommended by the county's Community Development Advisory Council.

Dublin Chamber of Commerce

Kahler elected director

DUBLIN — Dennis Kahler of The Import Shop has been elected to serve on the Dublin Chamber of Commerce board of directors following the resignation of director Steve Stevens.

Chamber board members cast their votes Monday night. Stevens had informed the chamber about his intentions prior to that.

He is leaving the chamber since his employer has transferred him to Livermore.

"I have enjoyed working with the Dublin chamber in business promotions. I did not realize this move was in the works or else I would not have accepted the renewal of this director's position during the last election," Stevens said.

He pointed out he would be available for comment if Kahler or other chamber associates ever had any questions or problems regarding business promotions.

Stevens suggested it might be a good idea to hold a Moonlight Sale in February.

Other agenda items included discussion of a proposed business directory for Dublin.

Directory Sales Associates, Inc. would like to publish one that would be distributed through the chamber. They want to print one with both white and yellow pages that would serve as a usable phone book. Dublin is considered to be in no-man's land as far as a regular phone book is concerned.

The chamber is considering writing their county office of public works and planning. They want to see about getting a left turn lane and a crosswalk in the Dublin Sports Grounds - Sierra Court area.

Astronomy offers new projections into space

Astronomy is the oldest science, yet in many ways it is also the newest.

The extension of man and his instruments into space as well as the rapid development of such specialized fields as gamma ray, X-ray and infrared astronomy has produced mountains of new information and has drastically changed some of our ideas about the universe we live in.

Recent years have seen old theories come crashing down and proliferation of new theories, many involving topics unimaginable only a few years ago. Quasars, pulsars and black holes are new phenomenon which scientists are still trying to explain, objects only recently discovered. Planetary probes to Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter have produced views and ideas about those worlds unknown until recent years. Many old questions have been accurately answered as dozens of new questions, still unanswered, take their place.

A course designed to survey and review these developments to the oldest of sciences is being offered now. Thursday evenings from 7 to 10 p.m. at Amador Valley High School. In addition to discussions of current topics in astronomy, observing sessions and field trips are planned.

For further information, contact the Adult Education office, 462-5500.

Supervisor seeks data on Alameda water zones

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — The county's 10 flood control districts, including the quasi-independent Zone 7 in the Valley, may skip a full audit by the county's Office of Program Evaluation if they can answer some dozen and a half questions from supervisor Joseph Bort.

The full board is considering an expensive evaluation of the 10 districts, but Bort thinks answers to his questions may serve as an alternative.

He wants a history of each zone, including the "original program and need;" objectives; tax rates; yearly revenue for the past decade; to what extend objectives have been met; and the expected end of construction in each zone.

He's also after the financial picture, including expenditures during the past 10 years and those projected for the future.

And he wants to know "any additional related benefits" from zone programs.

Zone 7 in the Valley is the only district with an elected board of directors. Its decisions are subject to the board of supervisors' approval, but are rarely overturned.

The 10 zones will spend about $19 million this year, including $10.3 million raised through property taxes. About 190 employees staff the entire district.

So, what's new?

Holiday-time babies born in the Valley numbered in the dozens.

Survival in the Arts

California Arts Council has big plans for '77

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of articles dealing with subjects of unique interest to artists. Creative people of all disciplines are invited to respond to the series with any questions or problems they may have encountered in their efforts to succeed both financially and creatively.

By Lucy Hobgood-Brown

The new year looks like a productive one for the California Arts Council, which means state artists will be reaping more jobs and more self-help information. At the CAC's meeting in Sacramento last week, 78 arts organizations were awarded $254,650 in grants and the National Endowment for the Arts presented a bloc grant of $215,000.

The meeting, which was attended by about 150 people, also saw San Francisco actor Peter Coyote elected 1977 Council chairperson. Suzanne Jackson, a Los Angeles painter, was named vice-chairperson. Both are long-time active Council members.

Gov. Edmund Brown Jr., who dramatically changed the focus of the Arts Council last year by appointing eight artists to the nine-member Council board, attended a reception following the meeting.

The outlook for more creative programming by the Arts Council seems bright, with much of the NEA grant going towards an expanded theater tour program, supplies for visual artists and an Incentive Award $50,000 to the California organization that submits a plan for the best use of funds.

From over 300 applications, the Council selected the 78 arts organizations that will receive amounts ranging from $250 to $10,000. The largest amount will go to the Los Angeles Philharmonic, and such diverse groups as the Chinese Folk Dance Association and KPFF-FM will also benefit. According to Leith Johnson, a Council spokeswoman, $4 million has been requested for the CAC's July 1976-June 1978 budget — a 300 per cent increase.

Don't feel neglected — one of the Council's new projects will provide state artists with up-to-date public and private grant information, which only requires a letter to the Sacramento headquarters for an application form. The project involves a computer bank that can spit out a summary of a Pearlblossom artist's life work in seconds or inform on potential sponsors for performing artists and employment opportunities.

That's just a taste of what the newly-formed Cultural News Service is cooking up for artists. Operating under a budget of $200,000, the CNS has big plans to collect and disseminate all kinds of information for artists and to publicize the variety of cultural activity in the state to the general public.

The CNS is a first in the state. Jim Churchill, secretary of the information agency, says a monthly newsletter will begin in three weeks. CNS coordinator Arlene Goldbard is also scouting California for possible regional information centers to help the Sacramento base handle the expected mail boom. Arts organizations interested in forming a regional center, with some financial help from the CNS, may write to 452 I Street, Sacramento 95814.

Artist of the month

Vicky Goettsche is featured this month at the Livermore Art Association Gallery, and will greet gallery visitors in person at an open house Saturday, Jan. 15 from noon to 3 p.m. Vicky executes watercolors in a strong expressive style. As an outdoor type who loves skiing and backpacking, she often sketches from nature. A native of Idaho and resident of Livermore since 1963, Vicky has studied locally with Claire Haratani and Margo Kirkewood, and attended the summer workshop at Asilomar with Jade Fon. She has collected honors at both the Pleasanton Art League show and LAA show. A full-time student and mother of three, Vicky is working on her bachelor of arts degree at San Jose State University. The gallery is open free to the public Wednesday through Sunday from 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Lists of the "10 best" movies of 1976 are beginning to make the various media entertainment and commentary sections, as witness the early ones by TV's Gene Shalit and syndicated columnist Rex Reed.

We'll attempt one later this month, but not until we've seen more of the potential contenders for Academy Awards. Still to be seen are "Rocky," written by and starring Sylvester Stallone, and Francois Truffaut's "Small Change."

"Cousin Cousine," now playing exclusively in San Francisco like the other two, did not come up to the superlatives noted in advance of our viewing it last Sunday. It is an extremely well-done comedy of a couple's blatant love affair in full view of their respective spouses, parents and assorted relatives.

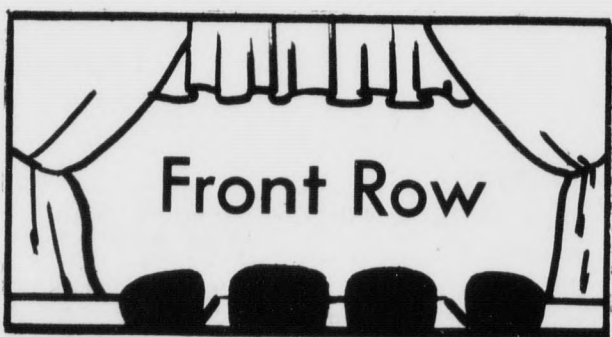

Starring Marie-Christine Barrault, the French language (with English sub-titles) romp is playing at the Lumiere on California Street near Polk.

We had expected something in the venue of "Lies My Father Told Me," one of little-heard blockbusters of 1975. "Cousin Cousine," though funny and compelling, comes up a bit short.

The Los Angeles Mime Co. plays a one-nighter at the Amador Valley High School auditorium Saturday at 8 p.m.

A long-run favorite at the Las Palmas Theatre in Hollywood, the Company is coming to Pleasanton under the auspices of the Chabot College Community Services Office.

The office has lined up a number of outstanding live and film events for both winter and spring quarters.

Coming up in the next five weeks are the droll comedy antics of Pat Paulsen (Friday, Feb. 4 at Chabot auditorium in Hayward) and the Newport Jazz Festival All-Stars (Sunday, Feb. 20, also in Hayward).

"The Golden Age of Comedy," third in the "America Turns the Corner" winter quarter film series, will be shown at the Chabot Valley Campus (Room 203, 12:30 p.m.) Jan. 19. "Of Mice and Men" plays Valley Campus (same time and place) on Jan. 26.

An ACT performance of "Lovers and Other Strangers" closes this weekend at the Chabot auditorium in Hayward. Curtain Friday and Saturday is 8:30 p.m. and 3 p.m. on Sunday.

Civic Arts Repertory in Walnut Creek continues with "The Importance of Being Earnest" Friday and Saturday at the playhouse on Locust in downtown Walnut Creek.

Bowing Jan. 28 is "Lysistrata," which will be performed 12 times through Feb. 26.

Although the CNS hasn't gotten completely underway yet, it's not too early to send in relevant information about you and your work for the artists directory, which will be compiled by discipline.

The CNS isn't the only vehicle towards self-help provided by the California Arts Council. Last year the up-dated organization took art into prisons, juvenile halls and mental hospitals, erupting a riot of controversy from many of the more traditional cultural institutions. To promote other Council guidelines of helping independent local groups develop their own art programs and provide employment, the Community Arts Program was evolved. From 77 applicants last year, six centers from across the state were given $16,000 to be used in ways ranging from capital improvements to holding weekly art classes.

The application deadline was just up for another program that will put artists of various disciplines into community centers on six to 12 month residencies. The artists will work at helping the communities discover their own modes of expression.

To help encourage student involvement in art, the Council is also sponsoring 24 working artists in 12 elementary and secondary schools throughout the state. The Artists-in-Schools plan is aimed at complementing the teacher while nourishing an involvement in the creative process.

A three-year pilot program that took off last year with enthusiasm involved mixing art with academia. Alternatives in Education, however, is based on transferring the positive feeling often associated with the creation of art to more conventional academic subjects. In June of 1976, when the first grants were awarded in this program, 165 applications poured in for a total of $1,795,555 in requests — the six grants that were awarded represented only 3.6 per cent of the requested funds.

The last major project taken on by the Council in 1976 is also being carried over into the new year and is designed to make the performance and exhibition of art more accessible to the public. A coordinator works full-time getting bookings for touring theater companies, which were selected by the Council.

Speaking for the Council, Leith Johnson states that "we need to know what we can do for artists. By writing to us, coming to council meetings and participating in our public discussions, we won't miss the mark." With a new budget to work with, the Arts Council is open to new ideas and funding requests. Anyone with questions may contact Ms. Johnson in the Bay Area at (415) 843-6963 or in Sacramento at (916) 445-1530.

Photographer speaks about art and nature

Ragtime band

Entertainment for the Livermore Valley Folk Music Club tonight will be the "Unstrung Heads," a valley band consisting of four banjos and a bass. The public is welcome to enjoy the band's ragtime music at 8 p.m. Doors open at 7:30 p.m. at the Unitarian Fellowship House, 4260 First St., Livermore.

the 7:30 p.m. program at the Pleasanton Cultural Arts Center.

"The objective of my work is to increase consciousness of the interrelation of art and nature, not as an imitative happening, but rather in the dynamics of energy — the interaction between unique experiences," says the artist.

O'Hanlon's credits as a photographer include representation in collections at the Art Institute of Chicago and Oakland Museum of Art. She was also the subject of a feature article in U.S. Camera magazine. She has traveled and worked extensively in Mexico, Scandinavia, Egypt, India, Thailand and Japan.

CHOREOGRAPHER ROLAND DUPREE

Top choreographer to conduct master class in Jazz dance

One of the country's leading choreographers and teachers of jazz dance, Roland Dupree, will conduct a master class at the San Ramon Valley Dance Academy Saturday, Jan. 22.

His appearance has been arranged by Karla and Klaudia Kobelt of Pleasanton, instructors at the academy, who attend seminars conducted by Dupree in Los Angeles several times a year.

"Dancers stand in line for an hour to get into his classes at Los Angeles," Klaudia testifies. Attendance at the San Ramon class is limited to 30 at $6 per person. Teachers, intermediate and advanced students are welcome and may call 846-3726 or 837-4656 for information.

Dupree established his school in Los Angeles in the early Fifties, and has made it one of the finest in the country, according to Ms. Kobelt. He has been personal choreographer for stars such as Barbara Bain, Milton Berle, Barbara Eden, Barbara Felton, Goldie Hawn, Juliet Prowse, Natalie Woods and others.

His television credits through the years have included four Bob Hope Specials, The Peggy Fleming Show, The Bobby Darin Summer Show and others. Dupree has choreographed for films, stage productions and summer stock, and night clubs such as the Flamingo and Tropicana hotels in Las Vegas.

"He's truly an innovator in jazz dance," Klaudia believes. "This master class is a great way for dancers to recharge their batteries." The San Ramon academy hopes to host Dupree, his teaching staff, and newly-formed dancing company on a regular basis.

Weavers

The Diablo Weavers Guild convenes Friday, Jan. 14 for a workshop on the inlay technique of Thea Moorman, author of "Weaving as an Art Form, a Personal Statement."

Weavers are invited to bring a threaded loom for the 10 a.m. demonstration given by Orla Poindester, and a sack lunch. Coffee will be served. The group meets at Grace Presbyterian Church, 2100 Tice Creek Rd., Walnut Creek.

Theater auditions would-be barons

Tryouts for the San Ramon Conservatory Theatre's fourth melodrama, "No Opera at the Opera House Tonight," are set Sunday at 1 p.m. and Monday at 7:30 p.m. (Jan. 16-17) at the Veterans Hall, Prospect and Hartz Avenues, Danville.

The cast calls for five males and six females ages

18 years and up. Characters include the villainous Baron Wolfgang von Wolfpack, the fair Alma Pumpernickel, confidence woman Lily Liverpool and the noble Count Onitt.

David Sunderman will direct eight performances in April. For information call Audrey Noh at 837-4477.

Berkeley Repertory Theatre and will have a crack at the Oregon Shakespeare Festival auditions.

The rest of the cast scores equally high. Lori Holt is a sweet and saucy Cecily, Louise Carter is a demure and proper Gwen, Lynne Arden is at it again as an opinionated, domineering woman of advanced years (Lady Bracknell), and Joe McClinton as Algy is an alternately blushing and bold young rake. Nick Thomas and Mary Gerber play their minor roles to the hilt as the Rev. Canon Chasuble and Miss Prism.

Director Douglas Johnson, also associated with Berkeley Repertory Theatre, earns accolades for a polished production — his first with Civic Arts. The play's momentum is sustained through long dialogue sequences, with the exception of a rather disruptive ten minute break between the first and second acts. The set by Richard Ptacek is very tastefully done.

Don't miss "Ernest" playing Thursday, Friday and Saturday through Feb. 12 at 8:30 p.m. Call 939-0355 for tickets.

An extra attraction at the Civic Arts Gallery, adjacent to the theatre, is an outstanding exhibit of art by Bay Area women called "Touching All Things." The 60 quality pieces are highly diversified and personal, and together represent the largest showing of women's art in the Bay Area. The show continues through Feb. 20.

Hours at the gallery are Tuesday through Sunday from noon to 5 p.m.; Friday and Saturday from 7 to 9 p.m. Admission is free.

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have a 16-year-old son who has peptic ulcers. He takes Maalox and that's all the doctor has prescribed for him. Will you please tell me some of the foods that he can safely eat? Is milk all right? Someone told me to let him drink goat's milk. He just suffered a bad attack; is there something else to take to ease the severe pain?

DEAR READER — What one can and can't eat if he has an ulcer is still a subject of controversy. Some doctors don't think there is any reason why a person with an ulcer can't eat almost anything. Others recommend a bland diet of soft foods.

In severe cases a constant drip of milk and cream with other medicines to neutralize the acid digestive juice is used. The treatment depends a lot on how severe the symptoms are and if the ulcers are healing.

To give you more information about ulcers and how they are treated I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-5, Ulcers — Duodenal, Stomach. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Just send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

There is no advantage in using goat's milk as opposed to cow's milk in the presence of an ulcer. I think it is a good plan to eliminate any foods that seem to increase the pain; avoid the spices and the acid foods such as fruit juice. Otherwise most ulcer patients can eat fairly normally.

On the list of important don'ts are coffee drinking or use of any of the caffeine containing beverages, smoking and alcohol.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Several years ago a mole on the corner of my mouth got sore and swollen. I could move the hairs around that grew in the mole. I cut them level with the mole. It stayed sore so I pulled them out. The swelling went down and it quit being sore. So as they grew from then on I cut them level with the mole and I never had any more trouble until now. It has gotten sore again. Each time the hair was festering. Could you advise me as to what causes this and the best thing to do? Is it wrong to pull them out?

DEAR READER — Get to a doctor as quickly as you can have him look at that mole. If your description is correct I think you should have it removed surgically.

Anyone who has a mole anywhere that changes in any form whatsoever should run, not walk, to the doctor. The danger is malignant melanoma — a particularly nasty type of cancer that is not easily cured. If you wait too long it can't be cured at all.

While you may have had just an infected hair follicle, there is no way you can be sure. The constant irritation you have from the mole is dangerous. Any mole that is irritated by shaving, a belt strap, a bra strap or in any way should be removed.

There has been more than one person who went to see the doctor when a change in a mole was noted because of my earlier columns on this problem. And the prompt action of these readers has saved lives. I can't emphasize too strongly to all that any change in size, shape, color or whatever of a mole may be your only warning and you should not ignore it for a day, a week or a month if you want the best chance of survival.

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

Q. "HOW DO PEANUTS GROW?"

CYNTHIA MORGAN
WINSTON-SALEM, NC

A. THE PEANUT IS THE NUTLIKE SEED OF THE PEANUT PLANT. PEANUTS GROW UNDER THE GROUND IN PODS (SHELLS) THAT USUALLY CONTAIN TWO "NUTS."

Each peanut seed grows into a bushy plant that has many yellow flowers. After the flowers have fallen, the flower stalks begin to grow downward and push into the soil. There, the tips swell and grow into peanuts.

At harvest time, the peanut farmer uses a digging plow to dig up the peanuts. Peanuts are usually salted and roasted to bring out their rich, nutty flavor.

They are eaten alone or used in making candy and cookies and, of course, peanut butter.

Some peanuts are salted and roasted in the shell. They are soaked in salt water under pressure, and then dried and roasted.

Because peanuts grow underground, they are often called groundnuts. Still other names include goobers, goober peas, and groundpeas.

Here is a hand that decided a team match when the declarer at one table and a defender at the other went wrong.

Both South players arrived at the normal three-notrump contract. Both Wests opened the seven of spades and both declarers won with the jack.

At table one South promptly planked down the queen of clubs. West played low and East led his last spade to clear the suit and declarer could only come to eight tricks.

At the other table South led his jack of hearts to dummy's queen and played the deuce of

Ask the Jacobys

Here is another question about a revoke. This reader wants to know if the penalty must be claimed at the first opportunity.

The answer is that it may be claimed at any time before the score for the hand has been agreed on. On the other hand, it is best to establish your claim immediately since otherwise there may be an argument about whether or not a revoke has actually been committed.

Amador overpowers Mats, 57-45

Compiled by Times staff

Each year, the Doom-sayers warn, is supposed to be Amador Valley High School's last as a basketball power. There's always supposed to be another East Bay Athletic League team waiting in the wings to knock the Dons off.

This season that team was supposed to be Granada. Late score: Amador 57, Granada 45.

In other EBAL contests Livermore routed Dublin 77-44 and Monte Vista outscored California 91-84.

The Dons, led by Rick Howard's 16 points and nine rebounds, stayed undefeated and as usual delayed further talk of their demise. Don Hall added 10 points to eight rebounds while Chris Kearn and John Sevo also chipped in 10 apiece.

Dan Lambert was the scoring surprise for Granada, leading the Mats with 15 points and corraling seven rebounds to boot. Jeff Evert added 10 points while Steve Robison and Joey Wujek each pulled down seven rebounds.

Amador took advantage of a continuing rash of turnovers by the Mats to go up by 15-1 and 30 seconds to go in the third quarter.

John Sevo fired in a jumper from along the left base line and Hall scooped up a blocked shot and dropped it in to give the Dons a 40-25 lead.

But just when it appeared that all was lost for Granada, the Mats ran off six unanswered points to end the period.

Joey Wujek started the two-minute binge with a turn-around jumper off an assist from Kim Curtis. Moments later, his block of a Rick Howard lay in turned into a Jeff Evert jumper and Rushing closed out the rally with a ball from the left corner 29 seconds prior to the final break.

During the second quarter, the Dons were even better. They looked like the typical Amador championship team.

Clamping down on any Matador foolish enough to terminate his dribble and darting in to slap away many a careless dribble, the Dons added eight points to their lead by halftime.

They went up by as many as 12 when Chris Kearn converted a Chris DePrater steal into a successful jump shot and a 28-16 lead in the final minute.

DePrater and backcourt mate Mike Hansen — both 5-9 — were particularly menacing to Granada ball-handlers, breaking up almost every chance the visitors had to build momentum.

Dan Lambert lowered Amador's advantage to 28-18 at the half with a jumper out of the left corner.

The game began in an overcautious manner typical of many important contests. Granada controlled the tip but did not attempt a shot for forty seconds and Amador stole the ball. But Matador guard Vance Rushing quickly swiped it back and with 52 seconds gone Granada led 2-0.

Center Wujek upped the lead to four with a foul line jumper a minute later. But the Dons capitalized on the shooting of Don Hall to go ahead at the end of the quarter.

After Mike Hansen started Amador's scoring Hall tied the score at 4-4 with a jumper from the right corner.

The 6-2 senior kept it up, scoring a pair of go-ahead shots later in the period.

In Livermore, meanwhile, the Cowboys vented out their frustrations on poor Dublin with a 39-7 tear to open the game, that lead coming early in the second quarter.

Both teams, coming into the game after two close losses, played mainly free-for-all basketball the first three periods with the Gaels cutting down the score to 65-43 at one point.

Mark McCreary scored 10 first-quarter points and finished the night with 24 for Livermore, and Dick Patterson added 17 as 11 Pokes scored in the game. Dublin's Jim Boulware, finding good range from the outside, scored 21 hard-earned points.

Livermore's biggest advantage came midway through the third quarter at 59-24. The Cowboys led after three periods, 61-31 and led at half 47-21.

Reserve guard Steve Jacko came off the bench to score 20 points highlighting Monte Vista's win.

Individually Larry Walters, who continues to hit from everywhere, canned 34 points. Monte Vista, meanwhile, was led by Dave Cowan, Ken Kray and Kevin Jones who combined for 59 points. Monte Vista, down by two at the end of the first quarter exploded for 34 second-quarter points in route to a 10-point halftime advantage.

MV rally tops Cal

Compiled by Times staff

Monte Vista went on a 12-0 spurt early in the second half and barely escaped foul trouble to post a 47-33 win over California last night in an East Bay Athletic League girls' basketball contest in San Ramon.

After Cal took a brief 15-14 lead in the second quarter for the only time in the game, the Mustangs rattled off seven straight points to take a 21-15 halftime lead.

Matters got no better for the Grizzlies in the third quarter as the Mustangs hiked their lead up to 33-17, culminated by Karen Fischer's lay-in near the end of the third quarter.

The Grizzlies crept back to within 27, due mainly to the foul-happy Mustangs, Fischer, Carol Dolsby and Linda Silva all fouled out for the winners.

Dolsby led all scorers with 18 points while Cal's P.J. Moore ripped the nets for 17 and teammate Pat Dulick canned nine.

"We just didn't take advantage," said Cal coach Bob Benatar, "we were missing too many fast break shots. Our typical game we play every time."

Benatar said of his team's second-half letdown. "We played every team good in the first half and the then before we know it we're down by 16 in the second half."

"I thought we shut off P.J. (Moore) real well," said MV coach Barbara Tabler. We started playing a looser game than we did against Amador."

The Stangs' record is now 2-1 while the Grizzlies dropped to 1-2.

In EBAL action Tuesday Amador Valley dropped Monte Vista from the ranks of the unbeaten with a convincing 70-51 victory on the winners' court.

The win gave Amador Valley a 2-0 mark in EBAL play.

Other Tuesday games saw Livermore drop Granada 38-22, California edged San Ramon 43-40 and Dublin stomp Foothill 39-16.

Carmom Macon and Jayne Kuhns controlled the boards for Amador. Macon led the winners with 15 points, Sheryl Withoft added 14 as did Jayne Kuhns.

Patti Shirley led Livermore's charge with 11 points and Quick Hardman added nine. Kim Cupps paced the losers with six markers.

Joanne Calender poured in 25 points to pace Dublin over Foothill. The winners jumped off to a 10-4 first period advantage and were never headed. Linda Finco added six points for the Gaels.

Moore set a league record by scoring 31 points in pacing California's exciting win over San Ramon. Moore exploded for 23 second-half points and the Grizzlies overcame a 10-point deficit.

A's, Giants owners say they'll stay

SAN FRANCISCO — Charles O. Finley, owner of the Oakland A's, and Arthur "Bud" Herseth, part-owner of the San Francisco Giants, both say they're keeping their baseball teams in the San Francisco Bay area.

And both say the other plans to pull out.

Finley, who met reporters outside the Chicago courtroom where his suit against Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn is being tried, said today he had no plans to leave the area.

But Herseth said earlier that Finley has called him several times trying to make a deal that would leave the territory to the Giants.

But he said Herseth, the Arizona cattleman whose $4 million had kept the Giants in San Francisco, had told him he was looking for a buyer.

"He told me he took a bloodbath in the sale of meat and also in the San Francisco baseball operation," Finley said.

MERIT 100's!

'Enriched Flavor' process applied to new low tar 100mm cigarette with striking success.

Only MERIT has the 'Enriched Flavor' process. A way of packing tobacco with extra flavor without the usual increase in tar.

MERIT created a whole new taste standard in low tar smoking.

Now that same taste science has produced a 100mm cigarette.

MERIT 100's.

Only 12 mg. tar.

Yet smokers actually like the taste of MERIT 100's as much as higher tar 100mm brands.

Kings: 9 mg. "tar," 0.7 mg. nicotine—
100's: 12 mg. "tar," 0.9 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC Method.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

MERIT & MERIT MENTHOL. KINGS & 100's.

Test Data Conclusive

New 12 mg. tar MERIT 100's were taste-tested against a number of major 100mm brands ranging from 17 mg. to 19 mg. tar.

Thousands of smokers were tested.* The results: overall, they liked the taste of MERIT 100's as much as the higher tar 100mm brands tested.

MERIT and MERIT MENTHOL. King Size and new 100's.

The taste barrier for low tar smoking has been broken again.
